

TUSCALOOSA'S IMPACT NATION FELLOWSHIP CHURCH CELEBRATES CHURCH DEDICATION

A weekend of celebration is planned as Impact Nation Fellowship Church officially dedicates its new church home during the "Built for His Glory" Church Dedication Weekend. The events take place on Friday, June 26; Saturday, June 27; and Sunday, June 29, at 1110 26th Avenue East, Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Bishop L. Spenser Smith and Lady Patrice Smith, Lead Pastors of Impact Nation Fellowship Church, will guide the weekend's festivities, welcoming special guests, clergy, community leaders, members, partners, and friends for an inspiring celebration of worship, fellowship, music, and dedication.

Centered on the message of Chronicles 5:13-14, the celebration will focus on God's faithfulness, the sanctification of sacred space, the strengthening of community bonds, and the dedication of Impact Nation's temple for worship, service, and Kingdom impact.

"Impact Nation Fellowship Church invites the Tuscaloosa community and surrounding regions to join this historic moment of consecration, celebration, and dedication as the church honors what God has built and commits the space for generations of ministry, worship, and transformation," said the press release.

As Impact Nation Fellowship Church marks this historic milestone, it is welcoming the Tuscaloosa community and neighboring areas to join in a weekend of consecration, celebration, and dedication, committing the church to generations of ministry, worship, and transformation.

In addition to serving as Lead Pastor of Impact Nation Fellowship Church, Bishop L. Spenser Smith is also the host of The Culture Call on Townsquare Media's Stellar Award-winning WTSK – Praise 93.3. The popular weekday talk show airs from 10 a.m. to noon and earned the 2024 Alabama Broadcasters Award for Best in Broadcasting, Medium-Market Radio Talk Show category.
